Editorial  Joseph Pearce

New Voices

Power is Poison by Pavel Chichikov

Usury by Denise Sobilo

Clearing Away the Fog of the Past: Uncovering the True Horror of the Nazi “Euthanasia” Murder Program
Mark Deavin

Turning a Blind Eye to the Murder and Rape of Christians  David Alton

Accompanying the Sick with Love: The Catholic Solution to the Problem of Euthanasia and Assisted Suicide  Louise Merrie

Who or What Controls the World’s Economy?  Stephen Brady

Expanding Employee Ownership: Toward a Stronger American Economy
The Quinsigamond Group

New Voices

The Angelus by Megan Reznicek

Fenestrae Coeli

The Strokes of the Master  Gwyneth Thompson-Briggs

On Language and Liberty  William Randall Lancaster

Notes Toward a “Catholic Way”  Charlotte Ostermann

New Voices

Daylight Robbery by Diarmaid Ó Conghaile

Faith on Film

The Act of Killing: Unquiet Graves and Troubled Consciences
K. V. Turley

Tuning My Words to the Word
Deconstruction and the Fall of Man  Donald DeMarco

Inklings

The Abolition of Man . . . Literally  Fr. Dwight Longenecker

Theater of the Word
Can There Be a “Climate Change” in the “Climate of Opinion”?  Kevin O’Brien

Sword of the Spirit
Rising from the Albanian Ashes  Fr. Benedict Kiely

New Voices

In The Dark by Pavel Chichikov

Views & Reviews

The Eighth Arrow: Odysseus in the Underworld (J. Augustine Wetta)
Reviewed by Louis Markos

The Idol of Our Age (Daniel J. Mahoney)
Reviewed by Matthew P. Akers

The Bump on Brannigan’s Head (Myles Connolly)
Reviewed by Gwen Adams

The Catholic Writer Today and Other Essays (Dana Gioia)
Reviewed by Marie Dudzik

On the Cover:
Peter Paul Rubens, Adam and Eve (1629). Courtesy of Ken Clark.